Graduation Message

To our completers and graduates as well as their parents and families, allow me to embrace you and offer my sincerest congratulations.

I am one with you in joy as you celebrate the triumph of finishing a chapter in life. As you continue to complete your life's volumes, always bring with you the pages of experiences you have had written in your journey and you will be able to conquer the different challenges life will soon bring.

Our school is an ecosystem where diverse members of the community and stakeholders converge in order for free and quality education to happen, regardless of gender, age, religion, beliefs, and disabilities. It is through this diverse environment that you have discovered your own unique self. The equal right to education you have enjoyed in school has also unified all of you learners from diverse backgrounds by imbibing values of appreciating other people and the uniqueness of this circumstance.

True learning results from a vast source of information and actual experiences. Our schools provided you venues to unite the diverse worlds of letters, numbers, data, formula, technology, games, and the arts. The unification process of cultures in school helps you learners not only improve your knowledge, skills and well-being, but it helps you develop people skills and become open and critical thinkers.

School life has afforded you the experiences, the knowledge, and the skills to understand human differences. Through harmony, schools are able to facilitate and encourage fulfilling learning experiences. In life, it is also harmony that paves your way to success. Unity in diversity is the foundation of a strong and prosperous nation.

You shall soon set out to continue writing your life series, whether to continue studies or to seek for employment, always remember, we are not without fault - everyone alike has frailties. It is the non-discrimination that led to a progressive diversity in schools. It is also non-discrimination that will help you to enhance relationships and teamwork among people thus improve performance, quality of work, productivity, and lifestyle. Use what you have learned to your advantage.

Take on an extraordinary entry into the challenging world. Be epic, be legendary!

Congratulations!
